The key to maintaining the peace Americans have enjoyed for so many years is faith. The future lies with us, as students. We have a greater responsibility than ever before to ourselves, our country, and the world. We must be prepared to accept such responsibility, never failing those who have faith in us and our future. Our education is, therefore, the most valuable asset youth may have today. Through education we gain faith in ourselves. We, the youth of today, can lead the world as adults of tomorrow with this faith in ourselves-with this faith in our future.

Faith in Our

School

The success of a school year is greatly dependent upon the efforts of our administration. Our faculty guides us with quiet efficiency and dedication of purpose. From this leadership, our faith in them arises. This faith becomes deeper faith as we progress through high school and is never forgotten as we go into later life.

Faith in Our

Guidance

WE have benefited from the wisdom of her counsel and enjoyed the quality of her friendship.

WE have grown to need her guidance, to respect the wisdom of her decisions, and to marvel at her patience and understanding.

For her sincere attitude toward us all, her strong character, her guidance and inspiration, and her willing cooperation, we dedicate with deepest respect and admiration this the forty-third volume of THE PEANUT to

Mrs. James C. Lynch

Through her we have found faith to face our future.

Office Staff

Mrs. Eddy and Mrs. Paine attend to the work of our school office.

Mrs. Dixon shows us a new novel which she thinks we will enjoy.

Behind the Scenes

Mr. Furr keeps our audio-visual program up to date and efficient.

Mrs. Duke, Mrs. Hughes, and Mrs. Watkins work hard to plan meals and serve students in our cafeteria.

Mr. Jack Jones, Superintendent of the building and grounds, is our "fix-it" man.

Tom, John Thomas, and Roy keep our school in tip-top condition.

Mary Martin and Becky Watkins display the school supplies sold by the Student Senate.

Each day offers every man some opportunity to learn and to progress. This very opportunity may be found in our high school experience. Each lesson learned, each feeling expressed, each success, and each failure help us as individuals to find our place in the world of the future.

There is a curious balance, in the pursuit of both the subtle knowledge of the classroom and the active participation in activities, which makes both the academic and extracurricular phases of high school of great importance. The interplay of each comes with experience, and forms a pattern which will be valuable in our future.

1964 Virginia Girls' and Boys' State delegates: Becky Eure, Jane King, David Darden, Steve Norfleet, Cliff Holcombe.

Football, basketball, baseball, tennis, track--each sport is certainly different in its rules and regulations. But whether the game is played on the field or the court, faith must exist within each team member--the faith that he has the staunch support of his school and the faith that his teammates are there to back him. The spectators must also have faith that their team is trying its hardest and doing its best. Without this faith in both player and spectator, there can be no team work, no cooperation, and no sportsmanship.

Day
 This year has held so much fun for us (especially since we were great J.V. cheerleaders, huh?) All the football games, basketball games, dances, and all our club activities have made our Freshman year one to be remembered for a long time. Riding to the basketball games on the bus with the boys was swell! At least we got to see almost all the games. That's what I liked about football games. I'm so glad your dad let us go to the Class of '65.

The dances after the games were good especially with a band playing. Of all the things we've done, cheating was the best. Although we both didn't make varsity, I'm sure we'll have just as much fun next year when we are big Sophomores.

Have a lot of fun this summer (I'm sure you will) Maybe I'll see you at the pool and tennis courts (hope so) Keep smiling!
